SAMK will assign a student a supervisor who will guide the student through the various stages of the thesis. Neither SAMK nor the thesis supervisor is responsible for the quality of the thesis, its content, completion, or any delays in the schedule. The author shall not be responsible for any damage caused to the client due to delays in the thesis process, unless otherwise agreed upon. The client undertakes to provide the student with all the information and material needed for preparing the thesis and to supervise the thesis process from the client organisation's standpoint. The student undertakes to return the confidential material obtained from the client during the thesis process after having completed their thesis, or when the parties jointly find that there is no basis for cooperation to complete the thesis. Publication of results and confidentiality. The thesis shall be public in its entirety. If the thesis includes business secrets or other confidential information referred to in the Openness Act, the confidentiality requirements shall be taken into consideration when preparing the thesis report. When necessary, confidential information shall be kept in the background material. The thesis is published in the Theseus.fi publication archive either in its open or restricted collection. The parties involved in the thesis (student, client and supervising teacher) undertake not to disclose any confidential information or documents brought up during the thesis process or in preceding or following negotiations and not to make use of any confidential information expressed by another party without separate permission.
